SOSTAC Marketing Plan

Egypt Tourism App

Situation · Objectives · Strategy · Tactics · Action · Control
Milestone submission · October 2026

This plan takes everything we've built so far (the market research, Business Model Canvas, Golden Circle and STP) and turns it into one marketing plan. SOSTAC answers six simple questions: where are we now, where do we want to go, how do we get there, which tools do we use, who does what and when, and how do we know it's working.

1. Situation: Where are we now?

The market

Tourism in Egypt is big and growing fast, and most of it still happens offline. That gap is our opportunity.

Indicator	What our research found
Foreign tourists	About 19 million in 2025, up 21% from 15.8 million in 2024, and still growing in Q1 2026 (+15.6%)
Tourism revenue	$16.7 billion in 2025, up from $14.4 billion (Central Bank of Egypt)
Domestic tourism	About EGP 460 billion (~$9.5 billion) spent by Egyptians traveling inside Egypt (WTTC)
Online travel market	$2.18 billion in 2025, expected to grow about 10% a year until 2033 (IMARC)
Still offline	Only 22% of hotel bookings are made online; about 70% of flight bookings are still offline
Government goal	30 million tourists a year by 2028; the Grand Egyptian Museum is drawing global attention

Our customers

- Egyptians are online but have no trusted app. 98.2 million Egyptians use the internet, about 4 in 10 prefer to plan trips themselves, and Facebook is a leading source of travel ideas. Most still end up booking through Facebook pages they don't fully trust.
- Foreign tourists stay long and spend a lot. They stay 9–10 nights on average, mostly come from Europe, and Saudi Arabia alone sends 1.5 million visitors a year. Yet the platforms they use only show a handful of famous cities.
- People want new experiences, not just new places. Young travelers want authentic, personal trips, hidden spots and nature. A fresh experience can bring people back to a place they've already visited.
- Price and trust matter most. Egyptians are price-sensitive because of inflation and want clear EGP prices; foreigners worry most about trust and safety.

Competitors

No app offers our full idea. Some apps in Egypt, like Itinfy, SIA Egypt and GuideMe Egypt, overlap with parts of it (see the market analysis). These are the main ones we tested ourselves:

Competitor	What they do	Where they fall short
Facebook trip pages	Group trips sold through posts and messages	Our biggest real competitor. Not professional, and trust depends on the page
Experience Egypt (Ministry)	Official info and tickets	Poor design, and it didn't work when we tried it
Halla Travel	Hotels, trips and packages	Weak UX, and only the popular cities
Bokoo / Journeys by Breadfast	Booking hotels, flights and stays	Booking only. No discovery or trip planning
Tripadvisor, GetYourGuide, Viator	Reviews and tours	Foreign platforms that focus on a few famous cities

SWOT at a glance

Strengths	Weaknesses
All of Egypt, not just famous cities Works for both Egyptians and foreigners Made in Egypt, presenting Egypt the right way Ready-made and custom trips in one app Verified users and halal-only places	New brand with no awareness or trust yet ID or passport at sign-up may put some people off Depends on local partners joining Development and support costs

Opportunities	Threats
Tourism is growing fast; the market is still mostly offline The official app is weak, leaving a gap for a trusted one Huge reach on Facebook and TikTok Grand Egyptian Museum and the 30M tourist goal	Big global platforms with strong brands Inflation and exchange-rate changes hit travel budgets Regional instability can scare off foreign tourists Licensing rules for selling trips

PEST at a glance

Factor	What affects us
Political	The government strongly backs tourism (30M target), but we need to check licensing rules before selling trips or packages.
Economic	Tourism is growing, but inflation and exchange rates make Egyptians watch every pound, so clear, budget-friendly options matter.
Social	Travel ideas now come from social media. Travelers want authentic, personal trips, and they speak many languages.
Technological	High smartphone and internet use, and mobile maps, digital payments and AI make personalized planning possible.

2. Objectives: Where do we want to go?

Our objectives are SMART: specific, measurable, achievable, relevant and time-bound. They cover the first 6 months after launch, plus one longer-term goal.

Area	Objective	By when
Awareness	Reach 1 million people across Facebook, TikTok and Instagram	First 3 months
Downloads	Get 50,000 downloads, about 70% Egyptians and 30% foreign visitors	First 6 months
Activation	30% of new users build or book a trip in their first month	Ongoing from launch
Retention	20% of users still active 30 days after downloading	By month 6
Partners	Sign 30 partner tourism companies and halal hotels, and 50 sponsored places, across at least 10 governorates	First 6 months
Trips	5,000 trips booked through the app	First 6 months
B2B	Sign 10 companies for employee trips	First year
Trust	Keep an app store rating of 4.5 stars or higher	Ongoing
Long term	Capture 1% of Egypt's online travel market (about $22 million in bookings)	Within our first years

These targets are our own estimates for a new app and will be adjusted once real launch data comes in.

3. Strategy: How do we get there?

> OUR CORE MESSAGE (GOLDEN CIRCLE)
> People don't always need a new destination; sometimes they need a new experience.

Who we're targeting

Priority	Segment	What we tell them
Primary	Young Egyptians (18–34)	Skip the random Facebook pages. Plan your own trip, anywhere in Egypt, with prices you can see.
Primary	International tourists (18+)	See the Egypt the tours don't show you, and plan every day of your stay in one app.
Secondary	Gulf and Arab tourists	Family-friendly trips and alcohol-free places, all in Arabic.
Secondary	Older Egyptians and families	A comfortable, well-planned day out without the hassle.
B2B	Companies	Ready-made, organized employee trips anywhere in Egypt.

How we want to be seen

> POSITIONING STATEMENT
> For Egyptians and visitors who want to see more of Egypt than the famous sites, our app is a travel companion they can trust. It lets them pick a ready-made trip or build their own, anywhere in the country, around their interests, time and budget. Unlike Facebook trip pages or foreign travel sites, every user is verified, every place is halal, and every trip earns rewards, all in one app made in Egypt, for Egypt.

Strategic choices

- Win trust first. Our biggest competitor is Facebook pages, so everything we say and show leans on verified users, the report system, halal places and clear prices.
- Lead with experiences, not places. Our content shows new ways to enjoy a destination, which gives people a reason to come back to places they already know.
- Speak two languages from day one. Arabic and English at launch, with Russian, German and Italian later for our biggest foreign markets.
- Grow both sides together. More local partners means more places to show, which means more users, which attracts more partners.

4. Tactics: Which tools do we use?

We picked each channel based on where our customers actually are, not where it's easiest to post.

Channel	Mainly for	What we'll do
Facebook	Egyptians (51.6M reachable)	Join and run travel community groups, post trip ideas, and run ads that answer: why trust a random page?
TikTok	Young Egyptians (48.8M adults)	Short videos: hidden places, one day in a city on a budget, the same place done differently
Instagram	Young Egyptians and foreigners (21.7M)	Reels, carousels of hidden gems, and reposts of users' own trips
YouTube	Foreigners planning ahead	Longer trip guides, e.g. a full week in Egypt beyond Cairo
Influencers	Both primary segments	Egyptian travel creators plan a real trip using the app; foreign vloggers show the hidden side of Egypt
Google search and app stores	Foreigners before they travel	Search ads and destination guides, plus app store optimization in English
Sponsored places	Users on the ground	Sponsor notifications when users are nearby, plus QR codes at partner hotels and venues
Points program	All users	Promote points for trip surveys and photos, redeemable for rewards or a free trip; group discounts to bring friends along

Channel	Mainly for	What we'll do
B2B outreach	Companies	Pitch HR teams on organized employee trips

5. Action: Who does what, and when?

Stage	When	Main activities
Pre-launch	2 months before	Build a content bank and place videos, open social pages, start a waitlist, sign the first partner companies and sponsors, brief influencers
Launch	Month 1	Influencer wave, launch ads on Facebook, TikTok and Instagram, launch offer for early users
Build momentum	Months 2–3	Push the points program, share users' trip photos, weekly hidden-gem series
Expand	Months 4–6	B2B outreach to companies, add more governorates, step up English campaigns for foreign visitors

Team roles

Role	Responsible for
Content	Videos, posts, captions and the content calendar
Social media and ads	Running campaigns, community groups and the ad budget
Partnerships	Signing tourism companies, halal hotels, sponsors and B2B clients
Data and reporting	Tracking KPIs and preparing the monthly review

Budget split

Area	Share of marketing budget
Paid ads (Meta, TikTok, Google)	40%
Influencers	25%
Content production	15%
Partner and B2B activities	10%
Points rewards and launch offers	10%

6. Control: How do we know it's working?

KPI	Target	How we track it	How often
Reach and engagement	1M reach, 3 months	Meta and TikTok insights	Weekly
Downloads	50,000 in 6 months	App Store and Google Play consoles	Weekly
Customer acquisition cost	Lower every month	Ad spend ÷ new users	Monthly
Activation rate	30%	In-app analytics (Firebase)	Monthly
30-day retention	20%	In-app analytics (Firebase)	Monthly
Trips booked	5,000 in 6 months	Booking data	Weekly
Points redeemed and surveys filled	Growing each month	In-app analytics	Monthly
Partners and sponsors	30 partners and 50 sponsors in 6 months	Partner database	Monthly
App rating	4.5+ stars	App store reviews	Monthly

What we do with the results. Every month the team reviews these numbers. If a channel costs too much per user, we move its budget to the channel that's working. If people download but don't book a trip, we fix the onboarding before spending more on ads.
