MARKETING COURSE · FINAL PROJECT

Segmentation, Targeting & Positioning

Egypt Tourism App

Milestone submission · October 2026

1. Project Overview

Our app is a trip planner for all of Egypt. You can pick a ready-made trip from a category, or build your own: choose when it starts and ends, the places and activities, the hotel, transport at any stage, and a tour guide if you want one. You can watch a video of each place before you go, and a map shows places to go out near you.

We want it to work for Egyptians exploring their own country just as much as for visitors coming from abroad, and to cover all of Egypt, not just Cairo, Luxor and Aswan.

> CORE VALUE PROPOSITION
> Discover all of Egypt: your interests, your budget, your day.

This section builds on the Business Model Canvas and Golden Circle we already finished, so the customers and positioning here match what we agreed on there.

2. Segmentation

Not every traveler wants the same thing, so we split the market in four ways: where people come from, who they are, what they care about, and how they actually travel. We also added companies as a separate group, since they plan trips differently from individuals.

A. Geographic

Segment	Description
Domestic tourists	Egyptians taking day trips, weekend getaways and holidays inside Egypt.
Gulf and Arab tourists	Visitors from the Gulf and other Arab countries. They speak the language and usually travel with family.
International tourists	Visitors aged 18+ from outside the Arab world.
By destination type	People heading to the big names (Cairo, Giza, Alexandria, Luxor, Aswan) versus people curious about quieter governorates.

B. Demographic

Segment	Description
Young adults (18–34)	Live on their phones, like exploring on their own, and want something different without spending too much.
Adults (35+)	Care more about comfort and a plan that just works.
Families	Need places that suit kids, somewhere to eat, and a day that isn't exhausting.
Students and budget travelers	Want the most out of the trip for the least money.

C. Psychographic

Segment	What they look for
Culture and history lovers	Temples, museums, old neighborhoods, the stories behind places.
Food explorers	Where locals actually eat: koshary spots, street food, old cafés.
Hidden-gem seekers	The place nobody else in their group has been to.
Value-conscious travelers	A great day that stays within the budget they set.

D. Behavioral

Segment	How they travel
Independent planners	Would rather plan it themselves than join a fixed group tour.
Spontaneous explorers	Decide on the spot: "what's near me right now?"
Time-conscious travelers	Want to fit as much as they can into one day.
Digitally engaged travelers	Check maps and reviews before going anywhere.
Trust-seekers	Have been let down by random trip pages before and want information they can trust.

E. Organizational (B2B)

Segment	Description
Companies	Companies that organize trips and outings for their employees.

3. Targeting

Our approach: differentiated targeting. We're building one app, but we'll talk to each group differently. At launch, we're focusing on two groups first and growing from there.

Priority	Target segment	Why we target them
Primary	Young Egyptians (18–34)	They're the heart of a domestic tourism app. Right now most of them book through Facebook trip pages they don't fully trust, and that's the gap we want to fill.
Primary	International tourists (18+)	They want to see more than the usual tour route but don't know where to start or who to trust.
Secondary	Gulf and Arab tourists	They come often, in big family groups, and the app already speaks their language.
Secondary	Older Egyptians (35+) and families	We'll reach them more as planning and family features mature.
B2B	Companies (employee trips)	One deal can mean a whole group of users, and they book again every year.

Partners on the supply side

The app also needs people on the other side. We run some trips ourselves and partner with tourism companies for others, taking a percentage on what they sell. Sponsors can feature their places, and users get a notification when they're nearby. All hotels and venues we work with are alcohol-free and halal, as we agreed in the Business Model Canvas.

4. Positioning

> POSITIONING STATEMENT
> For Egyptians and visitors who want to see more of Egypt than the famous sites, our app is a travel companion they can trust. It lets them pick a ready-made trip or build their own, anywhere in the country, around their interests, time and budget.
>
> Unlike Facebook trip pages or foreign travel sites, every user is verified, every place is halal, and every trip earns rewards, all in one app made in Egypt, for Egypt.

Points of difference

Alternative	What it offers	What our app adds
Facebook trip organizers	Group trips with fixed schedules, and no real way to check who's behind them	Verified users, a report system, and the freedom to plan your own trip
Google Maps	Gets you there, but doesn't tell you what's worth going to	Videos of each place and a full trip with hotel, transport and guide
TripAdvisor / tour booking platforms	Mostly the big tourist sites, written for foreigners	All of Egypt, local food and hidden spots, from people who live here
Official tourism websites	Nice general information, but nothing you can plan a day with	A trip built around you, with one price at the end

Unique value proposition

- Ready-made or your way: pick a trip from a category, or build your own with places, activities, hotel, transport and a guide if you want one.
- See it before you go: a video of every place, an optional personality test to tailor the trip, and a map of places to go out nearby.
- Trust built in: everyone signs up with their national ID or passport, you can report any guide or place, and every hotel and venue is halal.
- Rewarded for traveling: earn points for the end-of-trip survey and a photo, redeem them for rewards or a free trip, and save more when you travel as a group.

Perceptual positioning map

Positions are based on our team testing these apps ourselves.

When we tested the options, none of them covered all of Egypt and let you build your whole trip at the same time. That empty top-right corner is where we want to be.

5. Launch and Future Plans

We'll launch with the full trip experience and grow from there.

When	Area	What's included
At launch	Trips	Ready-made trips in categories and fully custom trips with hotel, transport and guide
At launch	Trust and safety	ID or passport sign-up, report system, halal-only partners
At launch	Rewards	Points, end-of-trip survey with photo, group discounts
At launch	Discovery	Place videos, personality test, nearby map, sponsor notifications
Future	Expansion	Our own cafés and venues, more partner companies, sports clubs and destinations

6. STP Summary

Element	Decision
Segmentation	By where people come from, who they are, what they care about and how they travel, plus companies.
Targeting	Young Egyptians and international tourists first. Then Gulf and Arab tourists, older Egyptians and families. Companies for employee trips.
Positioning	A travel companion you can trust for all of Egypt: ready-made or custom trips, verified users, halal places and rewards.
Plan	Launch with ready-made and custom trips, trust features and rewards; later add our own venues and more partners.
